Accommodation information for new students

Rental/share-house accommodation

Most interstate and international students will rent a property or consider a share-house while living in Canberra.

Here are some key issues to consider:

- Do your research and view listings on rental/share-house accommodation sites (see below)
- Factor the property's location, distance to UNSW Canberra, transport and other amenities you may need
- Ensure your budget is adequate to cover rental bond, furnishing, appliances, food, utilities, telecommunication (phone and internet) and other necessities. Refer to <https://www.studyinaustralia.gov.au/english/live-in-australia/living-costs>
- Be sure to understand and sign a Residential Tenancy Agreement (for rental) or a Share Housing Agreement (for share-house)
- You are committed to the property for the duration as listed in the Agreement
- Know your responsibility and commitment including any gardening and duties in a share-house
- Do not sign agreement or pay any money before you have inspected the property
- Take a friend with you to inspect the property and be presentable for the inspection
- It is likely that there is an application process to provide your credentials and to register your interest in the property
- Not all properties are available immediately – check when you can move in
- Beware of scams

Temporary accommodation

You may need to stay in temporary accommodation while you find a longer-term rental or share-house. To avoid any disappointment, it may be necessary to book your temporary accommodation prior to arriving in Canberra.
