As a general rule, students living in any Canberra suburb, Queanbeyan or otherwise within an hour's travel of ADFA should attend the examination at ADFA. Students living in the Sydney basin should attend their examination at the Kensington campus of UNSW. Students in other locations need to arrange a suitable venue and supervisor. When selecting a supervisor you should approach an impartial and responsible member of the community.

- I intend to undertake my examination at the Australian Defence Force Academy (ADFA).
- I intend to undertake my examination at the University of New South Wales, Kensington.
- I intend to organise my own examination venue (details to be provided below). Any costs associated with the organisation of an examination outside the prescribed locations are to be borne by the student.

Those students organising an examination venue and supervisor must provide the following details:

Postal Address	Address of Examination Venue (if different from postal address)
